MRS MARY S. DARNABY

Mrs. Mary Stuart Darnaby, widow of the late Major John H. Darnaby, of Fayette county, died Sunday night at her home on the Winchester and Lexington pike opposite old Chilesburg, in the eighty-third year of her age. The funeral will take place at the family residence on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock and burial in the Lexington cemetery.

She is survived by her daughter, Miss Susie Stuart Darnaby, her only son Samuel Stuart Darnaby having died when a boy of 14, and by two brothers, William G., and Charles I. Stuart and a sister, Mrs. T. J. Holley, of this county.

Mrs. Darnaby was Miss Mary Stuart of this county and was a lady of the most lovable characteristics. Her long and beautiful life was one of splendid and useful devotion to her family and friends and her death is a distinct loss to the community.

FOREST PROTECTION.

Conservative management of timberlands is assured for less than one-fourth of this country's forested areas, the part contained in the National Forests and under the administration of the United States Forest Service. By cutting only the mature trees and protecting the new growth by keeping out fires, the National Forests will "be made to yield" indefinitely. It cannot be expected that this small part of the nation's forests will supply the demand for future generations and the one hope in sight is that users of wood and lumber manufacturers will insure the permanence of their business by applying the principles of forestry in the management of timberlands.

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE.

A French scientist has discovered a secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans had proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, invigorates life and tone to the entire system. Its a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c. at Phillips Drug Company.
